

THE UNIVERSITY OF THE WEST INDIES
MONA, JAMAICA, WEST INDIES

The University of the West Indies (UWI) is a dynamic, international institution serving the countries of the Commonwealth Caribbean. Its faculties and institutes offer a wide range of undergraduate, masters and doctoral programmes in Humanities and Education, Science and Technology, Engineering, Law, Medical Sciences, Sport and the Social Sciences. The institution represents the oldest of its kind within the region and has been responsible for producing outstanding leaders who have made remarkable contributions to regional development.

Applications are invited from suitably qualified individuals for the post of:

LECTURER/SENIOR LECTURER IN OBSTETRICS AND GYNAECOLOGY
Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology – Faculty of Medical Sciences
Reference No. MPN100416

The successful candidate will be responsible for teaching medical students and postgraduate students in Obstetrics and Gynaecology. In addition, he/she will be responsible for teaching other health care professionals such as nurses and midwives. The successful candidate will be required to participate in interdisciplinary collaboration, develop innovative research, advise and supervise students at the undergraduate and postgraduate levels. He/she will also be expected to make a significant contribution to the department's research output, to undertake an appropriate teaching and administrative load, and to take part in outreach activities.

Excellent communication skills are essential, as is a strong commitment to excellence in teaching, scholarship, service and technology application in the classroom. Applicants must possess a genuine interest in helping students and the ability to work effectively as a member of a team. Experience in developing and delivering programmes and courses by distance or online at the undergraduate and postgraduate levels will be an advantage.

Essential Qualifications And Experience:

- Minimum of a DM (O&G) or MRCOG or FACOG (Board Certified) or equivalent postgraduate training from a recognised university
- Demonstrated independent scholarly research and publications and success in attracting research funding;
- At least five (5) years' experience of teaching in the related areas at the tertiary level.

Candidates who possess the following will be at a distinct advantage:

- Special skills such as fellowship training and certification in the areas of reproductive endocrinology, urogynaecology, gynaecological oncology and maternal foetal medicine.
- Experience supervising MPhil/PhD students;
- Certificate in University Teaching;
- Evidence of curriculum development (face to face or distant delivery modes);
- Administrative experience within an academic institution;
- Evidence of contribution to the public service, public education and policy advocacy.

For further particulars regarding the University of the West Indies and the Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology, visit us at <https://www.mona.uwi.edu/fms/department-obstetrics-gynaecology>

Applicants are required to submit a completed employment application form, curriculum vitae, (inclusive of a statement on teaching and research interests), giving full particulars of qualifications, experience, the names and addresses of three (3) referees (one of whom should be from your present organization) and copies of academic qualifications. These should be sent by electronic mail to hcmd.odes@uwimona.edu.jm addressed to the Campus Registrar for the attention of the Director, Human Resource Management Division, The University of the West Indies, Mona Campus, Kingston 7, Jamaica. All applications must include the reference number MPN100416 in the subject line of the email. The final date for receipt of applications is February 28, 2020. Applicants are advised to ask their referees to send reports under confidential cover to the above address without waiting to be contacted. The successful candidate is expected to assume duties on August 1, 2020.

The University thanks all applicants. However, due to the volume of applications, only shortlisted candidates will be contacted.