- 136 What Are the Roles of Carbapenems in an Institution-specific Epidemiological Antibigram in East Trinidad?
RP Nagassar, RJ Bridgelal-Nagassar
This paper provides an overview of the development of an institution-specific antibiogram, looking at last-line antibiotics, such as carbapenems. This provides an epidemiological trend for the entire institution. Patients' specific antibiograms and unit-specific trends (eg intensive care units, surgical wards and outpatient clinics) can be used as a guide in patients with less severe infections. Thus, these recommendations should be tailored, as appropriate. This will help reduce the development of resistance when treating any patient for whom swabs, blood or urine are submitted.
- 140 Effect of Dialysis Frequency on Microinflammation in Patients with Maintenance Haemodialysis
F Li, J Wang, X Yang, Z Hu, T Peng

The effect of dialysis frequency on micro-inflammation in patients with maintenance haemodialysis was observed. Patients who had dialysis less than twice per week had higher rates of micro-inflammation. This was an indication that the frequency of dialysis affected maintenance haemodialysis.

- 144 Odontogenic Maxillofacial Infections in a High-level Hospital: Orofacial Pain and Related Conditions

C Huentequeo-Molina, H Velásquez, S Olate, P Navarro, R Requena, JP Alister

This study analysed admissions related to maxillofacial infections with a dental component in a public hospital in southern Chile. The clinical conditions, diagnoses and treatments were examined.
