

Students must ensure that they adhere to the credit breakdown for each Level in all disciplines selected.

Students are being asked to check with the respective departments for course listings where absent.

Research papers can be done in any of the three disciplines chosen.

Media and Communication is not available to students beginning in the 2010-2011 academic year and beyond.

Students are advised to adhere to the registration guidelines outlined in the Faculty handbook.

THE DEGREE IN LIBERAL STUDIES

Many students matriculate into the University with little certainty of what they wish to study or even what disciplines they would wish to major in. There are also students who enter with multiple interests that are not easily covered by a single or even double major. Increasingly, employers are also interested in generalists who have achieved a good honours degree, regardless of discipline, since they come to the workplace with a broad knowledge base as well as strong analytical and social skills. The degree in Liberal Studies is therefore intended to satisfy a variety of needs of both students and potential employers.

The Liberal Studies Degree comprises a minimum of 90 Credits , distributed as follows:

1. 24 credits in each of at least two (2) Faculty of Humanities & Education Disciplines. AND
2. 24 credits in any other discipline as specified by the Faculty concerned:
OR
24 credits in each of three (3) Faculty of Humanities & Education discipline.
3. 12 credits in Foundation Courses
4. A foreign language must be done if one wasn't done at CSEC.
5. Up to 6 credits of electives.

No more than nine (9) of the 24 credits in each discipline can be taken at Level I towards the degree and at least six (6) credits in each discipline must be done at Level III.

Students enrolled in the Liberal Studies Degree programme can choose options from the Faculty of Humanities and Education and the Faculty of Social Sciences.
