I. PREAMBLE

Rights operate within a system of fundamental values. Rights and privileges go hand in hand with their corresponding duties, obligations and responsibilities. Such are the principles that bind student membership in the University of the West Indies community with the fundamental values, rights and responsibilities of the University as a community.

The Code sets out the ground rules, considered consistent with the goals and well-being of the University, for the conduct of all students who belong to the University community. This Code of Students Rights and Responsibilities has been written to define and explain rights, obligations and responsibilities of students while they are members of the University of the West Indies community. It has been written cooperatively by students, faculty and staff.

The Code is subject to and limited by the Laws of the individual Campus Countries and the Charter, Statutes, Ordinances and Regulations of the University. In addition it seeks to set out the procedures in place to review incidents of misconduct.

II. THE UNIVERSITY'S COMMUNITY PRINCIPLES

The mission of the University of the West Indies is to unlock the potential for cultural, economic, intellectual, social and spiritual growth in the Caribbean by high quality teaching and research. It aims at meeting the critical needs of the Caribbean, by providing West Indian society with an active intellectual centre and by linking the West Indian community with distinguished centres of learning, research and teaching in the Caribbean and beyond.

The University recognizes that as a regional University supported primarily by the Governments and peoples of the Caribbean, and equipped to meet local requirements, it should, in giving priority to regional needs, relate its own developmental programmes with maximum effort to those needs.

These overall goals commit the University to three central values which we share as students, faculty and staff:

- The development of all members of the University community. That value implies and affirms the dignity, worth and freedom of the individual.

- A focus on teaching, learning, research and knowledge. It upholds and sustains the fundamental importance of reasoned critical and, analytical debate and inquiry in all of the University's academic functions
- Societal enhancement that extends the commitment to individual development beyond the walls of the University to service to the broader community

As a student of the University, you are a member of the University community. Your University experience should include achieving learning objectives, discovering new values and points of view on the world, and its deepening relationships. The high energy and close proximity characteristic of student life require extra care in a wide range of areas of daily living and contact which include relationships, respect for the dignity and worth of the individual, respect for privacy and property, and personal safety.

All members of staff are also part of this educational community. They cooperate to promote student learning, to disseminate and impart knowledge, to develop new knowledge and ideas. The University's responsibility includes providing, for the student, the resources and opportunities for self-improvement and for the development of the potential necessary for success within and beyond the portals of the University.

The values identified serve as the foundation for policies and regulations governing the conduct of students and of staff. Membership in the University presumes, on the part of the student, a preparedness to help shape and support a community based on these values.

III. THE RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF STUDENTS

This Code is applicable to all registered students of the University of the West Indies, including those registered in joint programmes such as the joint UWI/UTech degree programme.

The University accepts you as a responsible individual and accordingly requires that you make responsible decisions regarding your own moral, social and spiritual behaviour and the success of the University as an educational institution. That is the basis of your membership of the University Community. This code is thus intended to help ensure mutual respect for your rights and the rights of others and to support an environment conducive to personal and intellectual growth. In furtherance of those objectives, you are required to accept the responsibilities indicated below:

You are equally RESPONSIBLE for your own learning throughout your academic career and for adhering to the schedule of dates and academic and non-academic regulations as stated in the Undergraduate and Graduate Calendars.
3. SECURITY -- You have a RIGHT to adequate and reasonable security. You have the corresponding RESPONSIBILITY not to acquire University identification that is stolen, cancelled, lost, false or altered, or to allow other persons to use your ID cards or permits.
7. GROUNDS -- You have a RIGHT to the use of the University grounds. You have the corresponding RESPONSIBILITY to observe the following limitations:

 - b. Littering - all garbage must be disposed of in the appropriate receptacles to preserve and maintain a clean environment.
8. FREEDOM OF CONSCIENCE AND EXPRESSION -- You have a RIGHT of freedom of conscience and of expression. You have the corresponding RESPONSIBILITY not to engage in an activity or a behaviour which shows disrespect for the rights of others or is likely to deprive others of their freedoms.
9. DISCRIMINATION -- You have a RIGHT to be treated without discrimination on the basis of race, creed, nationality, sex, disability or place of origin. You have the corresponding RESPONSIBILITY to treat all members of the University community with respect.
10. INTERFERENCE, HARASSMENT, DISRUPTIONS -- You have a RIGHT to an environment that is safe and free from harassment. You have the corresponding RESPONSIBILITY to avoid engaging in any activity, such as fighting, which is likely to cause personal injury, in interference in any class or function, in intimidation and in harassment of any nature including, but not limited to, sexual harassment. You have the corresponding RESPONSIBILITY to ensure that your guests abide by the University's laws and norms, and in all other respects comply with or obey any request or direction given by a duly authorised officer of the University.

You are RESPONSIBLE for any misbehaviour of a guest of yours, and for any damage that a guest of yours causes to University property.

IV. DISCIPLINARY PROCESS

Behaviour contrary to the accepted norm is subject to disciplinary action with appropriate steps for appeal, if the student disagrees with the action taken by the appropriate authorities. Disciplinary matters may be dealt with by the Principal or other authority designated by the Principal, or at the Hall level.

In cases considered to be serious violations of conduct, each campus will establish a Disciplinary Committee to hear and determine the complaints made against the student. The Disciplinary Committee will consist of a chairman, two members of staff and two students. A legal adviser will be available to the Committee. A student is entitled to legal representation of the student's choice, but the student is responsible for the expenses of that legal representation, and may have up to five observers at the proceedings of the Disciplinary Committee.

Decisions of the Disciplinary Committee are subject to appeal within fourteen days to the Campus Academic Board in the cases involving penalties other than suspension or dismissal. Recommendations of the Disciplinary Committee for suspension or dismissal will be considered by the Campus Academic Board, and decisions of the Campus Academic Board in cases involving suspension or dismissal are subject to appeal within fourteen days to an Appeal Committee of the Senate.
