DEPARTMENT OF MODERN LANGUAGES AND LITERATURES

Anthea Morrison, BA UWI, PhD Paris – Head of Department

WORK OF THE DEPARTMENT

This academic year was a year of transition for the Department. Dr. Claudette Williams resigned from her position as Head with effect from September 2004, after nearly a decade of leadership of her discipline. Dr. Anthea Morrison was appointed as acting head. At the end of the first semester, the Department said farewell with regret, to Dr. Hugues Peters, who resigned to take up another teaching position in Australia. Although it is understood that Dr. Peters will not be replaced in the short run, it is hoped that an increase in registration in the years ahead will make it possible to fill this post, since shrinking staff numbers in the discipline of French make it increasingly difficult to fulfill the section’s basic needs in terms of teaching and research. Later in the year, the extremely competent Senior Secretary, Mrs. Karleen Morgan, resigned with effect from April 11 in order to relocate to England. At the end of the academic year, Mrs. Mireille Milfort-Ariza retired after anchoring the Spanish Language section for nearly thirty-eight years.

On a happier note, the Department continues to benefit from invaluable cooperation with foreign governments/institutions with regard to the provision of assistance with teaching:

Miss Virginie Busetto, French Teaching Assistant, joined the UWI in September, followed in late October by Mr. Manuel Romo, Colombian Teaching Assistant. Under the auspices of the Japan International Cooperation Agency, two Japanese Instructors have taught this year, and it should be noted that there is continuing enthusiasm for this linguistic option. Students have benefited significantly from this cooperation: at present nine former students are in Colombia under the Teaching Assistantship Program, and eight are similarly posted in France; several students went to Japan under the JET Programme.

In November, Dr. Peters, Mrs. Preston and Dr. N’Zengou-Tayo participated in a special session at Kingston College (involving several other schools) intended to inform students doing CAPE in French of prospects for study at the UWI. This initiative is seen as particularly important at a time when it has been considered necessary to suspend the Major in French (a double major and a minor continue to be offered).

The Department represented the UWI at the “Touch of France” Exhibition/Trade Fair, held at the Hilton Hotel from March 19-22; the stand attracted favorable attention. The Acting Head, Dr. Morrison, was one of the panelists at a “Forum on Education” on March 21.

A student of the Department, majoring in French and Education, traveled to Guadeloupe in November 2004, on a trip partly sponsored by the French Embassy, in order to attend a course on pedagogy. Students of French (directed by Mrs. Jean Small) won three prizes at the “Tallawah” Drama Festival for Haitian Kanpe!, a presentation in honour of Haiti. The group was selected to participate in an International Theatre Festival in Canada in September 2005 but was unable to travel due to insufficient funding.

In May 2005, the Department hosted, for the second time, the annual Intercampus Modern Languages Theatre Festival, and welcomed to Mona some twenty-two students and four colleagues. from Cave Hill and St. Augustine. The festival was a great success and fostered interaction between students from the three campuses. The presentations were well attended by students from high schools (including one rural school) as well as from Shortwood Teachers’ College. Students from the Japanese Club participated for the first time by presenting a cultural item in Japanese at the end-of-festival social gathering. Earlier this year, they had given a much-appreciated performance at a reception marking the 25th anniversary of the Japan International Cooperation Agency.

From June 23 –July 21, the annual Colombian Exchange Programme took place. A group of ten Mona Students, accompanied by a staff member, Fredy Patiño, attended the University of Atlántico in Barranquilla while a similar number of Colombian students pursued a course in English at the Mona Campus. The group was smaller this year but students enjoyed the experience despite the concerns caused by Hurricane Dennis.

In the forthcoming year, focus will be on recruiting new Spanish staff with a view to enhancing the research profile of the Department. Course development for on-line delivery will be also another area for action.

It is gratifying to note that teaching evaluation of staff revealed a mean average of 4.4 for lecturers and 4.1 for courses on a scale of 5. At present, the Department consists of six full-time members of staff, one foreign instructor, and two foreign assistants. As a result, it relies heavily on adjunct staff, which is a cause of concern. The Department’s research output for the year, comprises five refereed publications.

Income Generation and Grants

Courses offered in the language laboratory are usually the main source of extra-income for the Department. However, this year, we were unable to generate a surplus because of low registrations.

Sales of manuals continue to help generate income but not to a significant extent since there is little or no margin of profit on sales.

A contribution was made to the Department Consultancy Fund for Court Interpreting services carried out for the Ministry of Justice and for research carried out for the UNESCO.

The Department notes with gratitude a financial contribution from the French Embassy and from the Trustees of the Bridget Jones and William Mailer Funds. These grants were used to finance the cost of sending students to Guadeloupe and to provide financial assistance to students in need.

PAPERS PRESENTED

- Mr. Jason Allen, “Parody and the Grotesque in Daniel Boukman’s Drama”. Departmental seminar presentation. (34 pages)
- Mr. Lindy Jones, “From Mutisimos to Paisaje Célebre: The Evolution of a Revolutionary Poet.” (May 2005)
